INSIDE THE HOME OF ROSETTA AND BALHAZAR GETTY

a rare, century-old Spanish-style hacienda above Los Angeles is what the designer and her husband call home

The place to unwind is the serene green library. “I spend a lot of time in there,” Getty says. “It has a beautiful view of LA and it’s just so special.” Among the stacks of art books and the contemporary photography, a striking geometric sculpture by Mark Hagen steals the show.” —Annabel Mehran
